La Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Daily Pross Office, Hongkong.

For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of later ears been compelled to coin to express the numerons objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in outenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of holy, thereby effecting a vast economy of attained, and dispensing with those vast mergins and vacant spaces which have heretofore charge "To illustrate the vast scope of the work the following facts are submitted for consideration:-

Chalmers Vocabulary contains about 16.000 Chinese characters, and Medhurat's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work centarie more than 50,000 English words and upwa is of 600,000 Chinese charac-this work contains more than five times as many as any other Dictionary hitherta pub-

For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who

the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted.
